

HARASSMENT & DISCRIMINATION

It's Still Not Just About Sex Anymore: Harassment & Discrimination in the Workplace

New 2016 Release! There is far more to workplace harassment and discrimination than just sex. To demonstrate, this program dramatizes employee behaviors that lead to formal charges and result in serious consequences for the individuals involved. It is an eye-opening experience for everyone in the organization to discover what is/is not acceptable in today's workplace and what their responsibilities are concerning harassment.

About the Program:

It seems as if the EEO and the courts expand the definition of harassment and discrimination every day. In this changing environment it's difficult to know--or understand--what's allowed and what's not allowed at work. This training program breaks ground by dramatically illustrating:

- The ever expanding range of behaviors that create a hostile work environment
- The differences between free speech at work and protected speech in public
- The consequences for individuals who exhibit unacceptable behavior
- The legal threats that companies or organizations can encounter

After completing the program, participants will know:

- Why harassment and discrimination hurt everyone
- The wide range of behaviors that can constitute harassment and discrimination and the areas where people and organizations cannot discriminate
- That free speech rights don't apply at work
- When harassment can become discrimination or "tangible employment action" and the implications
- That everyone has the right to work in an environment free from harassment and discrimination

Harassment or discriminating behaviors covered include:

- Age discrimination in a technological era
- Subtle harassment of foreign-born individuals or those practicing non-mainstream religions
- Attempts to convert others to a particular religion
- Making fun of an overweight coworker
- Harassment of pregnant women
- Discrimination based on gender identity
- Potential issues with misplaced paternalism

Using dramatic examples in white and blue collar, hospitality, health care and retail settings, this program will protect your organization by communicating everyone's legal responsibilities.
